CRACK CYCLISTS RACE

National Circuit Riders on the Coliseum Track.

LARGEST ATTENDANCE OF THE SEASON

Washington Team Badly Beaten at Chicago.

CURRENT SPORTING NEWS

The largest crowd that has ever witlessed a bicycle meet in this city assembled at the Coliseum last evening to witness the opening races of the national circult, held under the directing eye of the National Racing Association. As early as 6 o'clock the spectators began to gather around the box office, and from the time the little window was pushed open until after the first event had been started a solid stream of sweating humanity poured into the park. The inner ring held about 2,500 persons, while fully 2,000 more were on the stands. It was a jolly crowd, too, the short delays being taken in the proper spirit, and everything passed off in such a satisfactory manner as to call forth commendation for the park officials.

Last night will doubtless go down into bicycle racing annals as "'Majah' Taylor's night." He was the star of the evening, night." He was the star of the evening, before the races started and while they were in progress, and shone the brightest at the conclusion of the meeting. He had all the crack sprinters of the country beaten to a standstill, and the only events he couldn't capture were the handicaps, and his defeat was doubtless due to the fact that he couldn't get through the large field of contestants. Taylor has been seen in the city before, and at that time there was the city before, and at that time there was only one man who could take his measure. That was Eddie Bald. But that great sprinter has dropped by the wayside, and now the chocolate-colored boy has the field almost to himself. Tom Cooper is a ster. almost to himself. Tom Cooper is a star now, but in those days he was the easiest sort of proposition for Taylor, and the way he trimmed Tom last night demonstrated Kramer's Plucky Riding. Frank Kramer didn't get into Washington until 7 o'clock last night, and came direct from a hospital, where he has been dootoring the injuries received in the bad spill at New Haven last week. Kramer brought a certificate with him from the presiding physician, telling him not to race, but for fear of displeasing the spectators and to help out the park management he donned the spangles and went into the races. The large scars on Kramer's arms and limbs could be easily seen, and his suit covered yards of sticking plaster. Under these circumstances the East Orange boy was not expected to make much of a showing, but the way he went around the track demonstrated that it will take but a few meets to place him back in his proper form, as the only formidable rider that Major Taylor will have to defeat this season to lead in the matter of points scored The half mile circuit championship race The half mile circuit championship race was the event of the evening, bringing together as it did Tom Cooper, Owen Kimble, Frank Kramer, Sydney Jenkins and Howard Gascoyne, the two latter being Englishmen. The event was run off in three preliminary heats, a semi-final, two grand semi-finals and a final.

Fierce Trial Heats.

The trial heats were something flerce from a racing point of view, the riders sprinting like the wind at times and then loafing in a way that would have opened the eyes of the past masters in jockeying. Cooper and Taylor did this jockeying act to perfection in the semi-grand finals, and the game was very much to the Major's liking. It would appear as though the crack riders of the country had their best chance of defeating Taylor by making a sprint of it from start to finish. Instead they loafed around the track and then when it came down to a 200 yards sprint the col-ored boy simply made a show of his competitors. That was how it turned out with Cooper last night. He zig-zagged and criss-crossed all over the track for two laps, and then when the bell rang Taylor showed him up in the most positive manner, winning by fully twenty feet.

Kramer won the first heat of the halfmile event by a fine spurt over Howard Freeman. Taylor came out for the first time against Wilson and Gascoyne and had an easy thing of it. Cooper and Jenkins then went around the track, and as both were entitled to the semi-finals, Cooper went wide on the turn and Jenkins won. The semi-final brought together Taylor, Wilson, Cooper and Jenkins, with Downing as pacemaker. The latter carried the quartet around at a merry pace, the colored boy always in the rear, but on the last lap Taylor gave an exhibition of spurting that was simply wonderful. The other riders were going at a tip-top speed, but the "Major" went around the field as a thoroughbred racer would run away from a Freeman and Kramer fought it out in the grand semi-finals and as Frank was not in the best condition he had to lower his colors to the Oregon lad.

Cooper and Taylor then went through the race, already described and Tom was in the "nowhere class." This narrowed the field down to Freeman and Taylor. The former also did a little jockeying, but the race was more entertaining, as both riders went around as a higher clip, but when the sprint came it was a case of "cashing your money on the 'Majah." Then came the handicap trials, in which Taylor had to do the act of follow your leader, Jacobson capturing the first; Freeman the second and Owen Kimble the third which accounts for the large score. Back of Patten the Washington lads put up a poor fielding game, breaking into sev-up a poor fielding game, breaking into seven errors, the majority of which helped to score tallies for the Chicagos.

Capt. Clarke's suspension by President Johnson, as detailed elsewhere, sent Michael Grady behind the bat, and as Joe Quinn is laid up with an injured arm, Farreil came in from center and tried to fill his place. Jack is new at the position, but he slipped up only once at that. Dungan on first, has been dolling remarkable work, but he must of been thinking of Capt. Anson and the old days yesterday, for he is charged with two errors, a big record son and the old days yesterday, for he is charged with two errors, a big record against his first base play. Dale Gear went into center. This is not the Senators' strongest aggregation, as Clarke's coaching was doubtless missed, but it should have played a better game than yesterday's, although handicapped with weak

Callahan was on the rubber for the Chicagos and Jimmy, being at his best, had the Senators guessing. Harvey relieved him in the seventh inning and his work was also good. Chicago began business right at the start off, getting one run over the plate in the first inning. In the second Washington got one and tied the score. Neither side did any scoring in the third, but in the fourth any scoring in the third, but in the fourth the first lines of the disastrous finish for the Senators were seen. Four runs were chalked up for Chicago, and in the fifth the batting fusiliade was terrific, seven runs resulting. The White Sox then eased up for one inning to get their second wind, and in the seventh drove four more tallies over the plate. Washington managed to coax in two runs in this inning, but it was the dying effort of the defeated Senators. the dying effort of the defeated Senators. Chicago made an additional run in the eighth for good measure, and then quit with the score standing 17 to 3.

It was Washington's worst defeat of the season, but it doesn't count any more in the championship table than a 2 to 1 score.

TO PLAY A SERIES. Two Chicago Teams to Lock Horns In October.

President Charles A. Comiskey of the Chicago White Stockings is ready to accept President Hart's challenge to play the Remnants this fall, and will call on the National League and open negotiations for the arrangements for the series of games to be played. Captain Griffith welcomes the offer. President Hart wants to play until one or the other team has won seven games. He believes the Remnants can get seven victories over the White Stockings in about ten games played.

President Hart issued a defi yesterday to Comiskey's champlons to play his West Side aggregation during the first and second weeks of October if the national board of arbitration will grant the necessary permit.

When Comiskey learned of the challenge When Comiskey learned of the challenge he was delighted, and said immediately that the challenge would be accepted. Besides accepting the challenge of the Remnants, Comiskey expects to challenge the winner of the pennant in the National League to a series of games, not less than seven, the arrangements to be concluded as soon as the National League season is over.

there was no breeze. The track was fast, and the large crowd present witnessed another good day's sport. Eleata, the speedy daughter of Dexter Prince, winner of the rich M. and M. stakes at Detroit, won the first race for 2.23 trotters in straight heats, with speed to spare. It was conceded that she would win the race, and she was barred in the betting. Country Jay took second money after a hard drive in the stretch. In the third heat of this event the 2.23 trotters came in money in straight heats.

In the third event a field of evenly matched pacers of the 2.09 class furnished the best sport of the afternoon, George, the son of Scarlet Wilkes, capturing the money by coming first under the wire in the three last heats. straight heats.
Betting was heavy, but the talent was unable to pick the winners.

The Abbot, king of all trotters, who has been suffering from distemper, was driven a mile this morning by Geers. He is still in bad shape, and it is feared will not be able to meet Cresceus in the $12,000 match race at Brighton Beach on August 15.

Geers, trainer of The Abbot, denies that this match race has been officially declared off, and states that he will be able to make a definite announcement before the close of the Cleveland meeting.

CONSTITUTION WINS AGAIN.

squarely. The breeze at no time was of sufficient strength to raise a single whitecap on the waves. The Constitution and the Columbia very narrowly escaped a disastrous collision as they crossed the line. The rivalry between Capt. Rhodes of the Constitution, and Capt. Barr of the Columbia is intense. As they were maneuvering for the weather gauge just before the start Barr got the windward position with the Constitution close under his lee. The steam yacht Narada, which was acting as the committee boat was anchored at the weather end of the line. The Constitution luffed up sharp, leaving a very narrow passage between herself and the Narada, but Barr ran his bowsprit into it and, hailing the Constitution for room to pass, went into it in what seemed the most reckless manner. The Constitution is a remarkably hard steerer, and although Capt. Rhodes put his helm up, it was some little time before she paid

When she at last swung off the bowsprit of the Columbia was nearly grazing the side of the Narada. Capt. Barr, to put his helm up and gybed the Columbia, or else the end of his main boom would have struck the topmast rigging of the Constitution and the collapse of her mast might have followed. He barely cleared her and then luffing up, overcame the boom again and close hauled once more on the starboard tack. Columbia shot ahead and to windward, blanketing the Constitution, and luffing out under the stern of the Narada, she stood on her course 100 yards in the lead.

The weather was scorching hot, and The race between the two 90-footers was ontested every inch. After going along for two or three miles they indulged in a luffing match in which the Constitution came out a winner in bearing away on her course nearly a quarter of a mile in the lead and setting her big balloon jib top-

At 12:30 the Constitution had gone about At 12:30 the Constitution had gone about 15 miles. Soon after she set her spinnaker to starboard, carrying it until Cornfield Lightship was reached, when it was taken in again for a few minutes and then reset single file two lengths apart.

The finishes in the second race were for the run to the finish. The Constitution kept a mile closer to the Long Island shore close and exciting, Richard A. taking first than her rival until Bartlett's Reef was than her rival until bartiett's beel was reached, and she finished a good mile in the lead, having gone the 39 miles in 4 hours, 32 minutes, 27 seconds, while it took the Columbia to go over the same distance 4:40:50.

This was remarkably fast when the com-parative lightness of the breeze is taken into consideration and also that the tide was against them over the greater part Yachtsmen are now convinced that the Constitution is faster than the Columbia on every point of sailing in light weather, but in a heavy blow and a rough and tumble sea many believe the Columbia will prove the speedier.

Following is the summary of the Constitution and Columbia:

The hops used in Schlitz beer are the best hops grown in the world; most of them are imported from the re-nowned Saaz district in Bo-hemia. They are personally selected at the hop-picking season by one of the owners of our business. Then we keep them in refrigerating rooms until they are used. We preserve their aroma, so that they come to our vats with all the freshness and virtue that they had on the vines. That's one reason why Schlitz beer is so palatable. Every ingredient used in it is the best that money can

But without purity that expense would be folly. No beer can be good unless it is pure. To insure absolute purity we largely increase the necessary cost of our brewing.
